Fetal Deaths due to Covid-19

Leonard Evans*

The more than 800,000 total deaths [1] from Covid-19 do not include another category of victim. Namely, unborn babies. The data used here covers the slightly more than 2-year period from 2020-01-01 to 2022-01-08. To calculate the number of fetuses killed I assume that if a female of childbearing age dies, her fetus also dies. While an approximation, I consider it adequate for the present calculations. A second assumption is that the probability of contracting covid-19 is the same for pregnant and non-pregnant women. I assume that the number of live births [2] in a year is an approximation for the number of women who are pregnant in that year times a factor of 9/12 to reflect that the duration of the pregnancy is 9 months compared to the 12-month data collection unit. The method of my estimate of the number of fetus deaths caused by maternal deaths (Table 1) parallels very closely our earlier estimate of the number of fetuses killed in US traffic crashes [3]. The calculation in table 1 estimates that Covid-19 has killed 471 fetuses.

Α	В	С	D	E
